198 College Hill Road

The Juniors of 1869 were the first to publish the Hamiltonian. In the one-hundred twenty-nine years that have elapsed since then, the Hamiltonian has undergone a complete metamorphosis. After the unification of Hamilton-Oneida Academy and Kirkland College in 1978, the Hamiltonian no longer was a "fraternity magazine" (as it was referred to). This year, the Hamiltonian aims to present a complete picture of life on the contemporary Hill.

The Class of 1998 entered Hamilton as first-years during the first year of President Eugene M. Tobin's administration. In our four years on the Hill, we have not only watched Hamilton's development, but our own. From the Residential Life decision, to rallies condemning acts of injustice and intolerance, our experiences have in many ways changed the way we look at the world around us. In an effort to illustrate this growth, the format of this book has been radically (and ambitiously) changed and now offers a selection of pictures that go beyond mediocre snapshots.

Formerly an outlet for student literary and humorous efforts, the Hamiltonian appealed to many students as a "Book of Days". With our '98 version, we hope that you enjoy the twist we have placed on our years together. The Graduate section and the addition of World Beat* make this edition truly fuller and more complete than past editions. Such effects have been done to bring back familiar scenes and thoughts in the years to come.

Winston Churchill once said, "writing a book is an adventure. To begin with, it is a toy and an amusement. Then it becomes a mistress, then it becomes a master, then it becomes a tyrant. The last phase is that just as you are about to be reconciled to your servitude, you kill the monster, and fling him to the public". Now that this Yearbook is finished, we fully understand Sir. Churchill's words of experience.

We the Hamiltonian, are proud of this the 129th edition. We present it to Hamilton and the Class of 1998 as a lasting record of our small part in the years that are Hamilton. Enjoy.

ATHLETICS

Sports

The Continental defense had two of its better performances in the final four weeks of the season. Against Colby on Family Weekend, Hamilton pitched a shutout for the first time in five seasons on the way to a 28-0 win. In the season's final weekend, the Continentals defeated Bates, 17-7, behind a defense that limited the Bobcats to just 143 total yards.

In a typical game, nine of 11 Hamilton defense players were seniors, and each had his moments in 1997. Against Wesleyan, the Continentals continually pounded the ball on the ground in the first half, leading to a 12-3 halftime advantage. Senior Chris Kelly had a career day, rushing for 132 yards on 25 carries. The two touchdowns came on a two yard pass from quarterback Robbie Peters to tight end Jason Dewar and a one-yard run by fullback Nick Moore.

One of the most valuable players on the team was senior Frank Loverro. Loverro was an All-NESCAC selection at linebacker in 1997 for the Continentals, who finished at 2-6. He led the Continentals with four quarterback sacks and finished third on the team with 44 tackles. A four-year starter and letter winner, Loverro was Hamlton's lone all-conference selection.

Last season, the Continentals reached a No. 1 national ranking, for the first time in program history. Many important players returned for their last season with the Continentals. Among them, Ben Hawn and David Webb, who lead the rest of the team during the season. Coach Grady stated at the beginning of the season, "I'm looking for leadership from guys like Hawn and Webb, but we have a lot of young players who can help us up front." Co-captains Brian Guastella and John Whitwell both had strong seasons last winter, who had rock solid performances during their last seasons on the Hill. The team will continue to be a dominating force in seasons to come with the young experienced players who contributed to the 1997-1998 hockey season.

While the 1997 season was a disappointment in the win-loss columns, youth and enthusiasm were key characteristics of the Continentals field hockey squad. Persistence was another quality exhibited by the squad led by tri-captains Sarah Chessin, Laura Genter and Kim Powers. One highlight of the varsity season was the Parent's Weekend victory over NESCAC opponent Colby played in front of a wonderful crowd -- a game won 2-1 only twenty seconds into the sudden victory overtime period!

The JV team had several highlights: a 7-4 record, the well-executed 4-0 win over Colgate's Club team under the lights at Colgate's new turf stadium with many Hamilton fans in attendance and the 3-2 victory over Herkimer CCC, the NJCAA national champions -- the first win in seven years and fourteen contests over Herkimer for JV Coach Liz Brush.

The Lady Continentals lost 9 of 11 games by one goal in what can only be termed a heartbreaking season. On the positive side, senior captain Kerri Goldberg was named to the UCAA Academic All Conference Team, First Team UCAA Conference All Star, NYSWCAA All-State Soccer Team, as well as the NESCAC Conference Second Team. These well deserved awards were the culmination of four years of dedication and commitment by our senior captain who will be sorely missed next year.

Unless you are challenged there is no work, there is no accomplishment, there is nothing of value, there is no test of your strength. Strength has to be challenged, otherwise it is lost. Challenges are just as important to life as eating, perhaps even more so.

Every gesture you make reveals something about you.

"Art is living. It is not just craftsmanship, it is the flow of love. There is that meeting place of the body and the soul and the spirit that gives you control..."

"A smile. It costs nothing, but creates much. It enriches those who receive, without impoverishing those who give. It happens in a flash, and the memory if it sometimes lasts for ever. None are so rich they can get along without it, and none so poor but richer for its benefits. It creates happiness in th house, fosters good will in a business, and is the countersign of friends. It is rest to the weary, daylight to the discouraged, sunshine to the sad, and Nature's best antidote for trouble. Yet it cannot be bought, begged, borrowed, or stolen for it is something that is no earthly good to anybody till it is given away"

How to Have a Beautiful Voice

Q: Do you wince when you hear yourself on an answering machine?

Well, try Freeing your speech with a vocal tune-up.

Not that your voice has to be like Joe Cappa's, Marge Simpson's, Fran Drescher's, Oprah's or Prof. Rick Warner's to have an impact. It merely has to come from the heart (figuratively) and the gut (literally).

A TEACHER

Prof. Susan Ross

of the Rhetoric & Communications Department gives the following tid-bit:

Hellooh

"...Just for fun, ask a friend to count how many times you use like in a conversation. other empty-calorie expressions: And I'm all...and I go...you know?...yeah, right?...whatever...what'sherface...thingie...blah-blah-blah...you know what I mean. Now, wean yourself off these terms: Call objects by their real names, end sentences with actual words, stop gesturing to make your point. It'll feel torturous, but soon you'll be impressing friends and professors with your s t r e a m l i n e d, articulate speech."

WHAT'S YOUR HOLIDAY COMFORT FOOD? We asked a few celebs to dish

Jennifer Aniston: "Cranberry sauce—right out of the can."

Andy Garcia: "My mother used to make this great Cuban dish called spicy rice. It doesn't feel like Christmas without it."

Brendan Fraser: "We used to have bowls of candy around the house during Thanksgiving. I'd pass on the stuffing and cozy up with a dish of mini Mr. Goodbars. That's holiday food."

Sharon Stone: "Mashed potatoes and gravy were my passion when I was younger. Sometimes I miss the days when I could eat that kind of stuff."

David Schwimmer: "My mom's apple pie was an all-day affair when I was growing up; we'd make six or more at a time. I peeled, sliced and cored hundreds of apples every holiday. And I always knew the pies tasted better because I helped."

Vanessa Williams: "My grandmother made the greatest macaroni and cheese at Thanksgiving. I also loved her green beans baked with French fried onion rings on top. Wait, I'm forgetting the sweet potato pie and pound cake ..." —Cindy Pearlman

Body Basics

firm up fast

Laura Solof advises that

"Spinning...YES, turning round and round and round is one of the quickest, most effective methods to slim down and shape. It is ideal for firming hips, thighs and buttocks".

Nighttime sky divers say their senses expand in the darkness. "You smell the earth as you approach the ground."

Where to burn the midnight oil

SkyDance Skydiving (916-753-2651) in Davis, CA, will toss you into the moonlight, for a small fee. Skydive DeLand (904-738-3539) in De Land, FL, is the premier drop zone in the Southeast, offering night jumps when the moon is waxing brightest (even so, you can't see a thing from 13,500 feet). Banked with spooky cedar trees, the Santa Fe River in High Springs, FL, is ideal for evening canoe trips. It's just you, the moon and a few water moccasins. Call Santa Fe Canoe Outpost (904-454-2050). Washington, DC's tourists have yet to discover the best way to see the monuments at night—by kayak on the Potomac tidal basin. Call Atlantic Canoe & Kayak (703-780-0066). It's sort of like American Bandstand on skates. Organizer David Miles is the Dick Clark of San Francisco's Midnight Rollers Friday Night Skate, a weekly event where 500 in-line skaters take a 12.5-mile loop around the city (415-752-1967). Other versions exist: In Atlanta the Peachtree Road Rollers meet every Monday and Wednesday at 8 P.M. (404-634-9032); in New York City, the Tuesday Night Skate starts at 8 P.M. (212-929-0003 ext. 5). In Virginia Beach, VA, mountain bikers sneak out during post-prime-time hours to ride trails that empty out when the sun goes down. Call North End Cyclery (757-428-4235). Renegades also flock on moonlit nights to Bald Mountain, outside Santa Rosa, CA, and to Mammoth, CA. Challenge fellow freaks of the night at the NiteRider Night Ride race (619-268-9316). The 24 Hours of Canaan race in Davis, WV, provides experienced mountain bikers a chance to ride all night long (304-259-5533). The best time to see the strangest fluorescent sea creatures is at night. The Captain's Corner (305-296-8865) dive shop in the Florida Keys offers evening wreck and reef dives Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Bamboo Reef in San Francisco plans night dives for all levels of certified scuba divers (415-362-6694).

Rock On!

The most relaxing way for ANDREW KNUDSEN to come down from a hiking-packed day in the 'Docks is with a hot-stone massage. Yes, this wiley one knows exactly how to pamper a HOT BOD.

Consider his favorite 60-minute treatment in which the body is kneaded with warm, oiled basalt rocks... curtesy of GEO Prof. Dave Bailey. It brings new meaning to the phrase rocks for jocks.

The Snowiest Year On Record

The winter of 1995/6 holds the all-time record for snowfall for the Class of 1998, with the last of it hitting the Mohawk Valley in late May. Nonetheless, perhaps as a reminder of the things to come, Spring always finds its way to the Hill.

Remember the Details ?

For winter's rains and ruin are over,
And all the season of snows and sins,
The days dividing lover and lover,
The lights that loses, the night that wins;
And time remembered is grief forgotten
And frosts are slain and flowers begotten,
And in green underwood and cover
Blossom by blossom the spring begins.

-- Algernon Charles Swinburne

The Coming Of Spring

Just another Day

Procrastination

Restoring a Legacy

It isn't working that's so hard, it's getting ready to work.

It isn't being up that we all dislike, it's getting up.

It is knowing that it doesn't matter whether you are in class or not. It's knowing that you could be sleeping in the warm covers of your bed instead of on the hard formica of a desk.

It doesn't seem to matter what we have to do, it could be the simple action of getting out of bed or something more complex like a final paper, the hard part is getting started.

There is some complex thing going on in our brains that keeps us from getting started on a job. No matter how often we do something, we always forget how long it took us to do it last time and how hard it was. This is what keeps us from getting at things. We may not know, but our subconscious knows that the job is going to be harder than we think. It tries to keep us from rushing into it in a hurry.

That is why we must take our time, whether it be beating the final round of Minesweeper or Tetris or Doom or just finishing watching whatever movie your roommate happened to have put in the VCR before starting any task, our subconscious is just trying to protect us.

Mark Thompson writes "visitors to our rooms can easily disrupt the best laid plans for completing work. The telephone call from your boyfriend, girlfriend, family members, or just about anyone almost always delays that trip to the library. The loud stereo down the hall, the nasty (and intriguing) roommate dispute in the room next door, or Melrose Place or X-Files on the tube in the lounge can also keep us from the task @ hand."

In order to counter our inevitable procrastination, we decide to start early, but the task seems that much harder the further we plan ahead. Instead, our finest work is written at 2 a.m. after several runs to Dunkin Donuts or Breakfast at Tiffany's where they know you on sight.

The wonderful thing about memory though, is it is great about forgetting. Every time we find ourselves in the same situation, we forget what pain we went through the last time. The effort it took after writing that paper to wake up and hand it in, the way you walked all the way across campus to tell a friend that you were going to fail because you hadn't started studying and the test was in an hour. That is the great thing about memory, it all seems so easy once it is over.

It is quite probable that it is this wonderfully intelligent subconscious part of our brain that makes us want to stay in bed another hour every morning. We want to get up. It knows that just as soon as we get up, the trouble will start all over again.

WHAT THEY NEVER TELL YOU

Our "Nookie Elf" goes U-N-D-E-R-C-O-V-E-R to unearth some pretty telling stories...

These members of the Class of '98 draw on their experiences with seduction to reveal the unforgettable victories and agonizing defeats.

Plus, they'll EXPOSE their secrets- how do they meet you, greet you- and keep you?

Dating is a test. If a woman asks you back to her apartment and you jump her, you're probably not the guy she's looking for. Be a gentleman: Leave before midnight.

Jonathan I. Goldstein

SURE-FIRE STRATEGIES by the "Nookie Elf"

Arda Y. Arkun

The best way to meet women is just walking down the street. Once I followed a woman to an auction and outbid her on a print. After the auction, I presented it to her. Then we went out.
[ENote: Ohhhh...we're swooning]

Gretchen A. Schultes

If a man asks you back to his room after the first date, it means he wants to go back to his room. That's all. Maybe his belt is too tight.
[ENote: Uh..huh...wink... wink]

Constantine Karamanlis

To show a woman I like her, I'll get my friends and a bunch of very pretty women to come over. My date will feel a little self-conscious But then, in front of everyone, I'll pay a lot of attention to her.
[E Note: Yeah...WHATEVER! Seek advice from Oliver North!

Charity events and HAVOC gatherings are good places to meet women because you're positioned as someone who cares about something.

Jenna C. Kozerowitz

Jason M. Osborn

You shouldn't spend the next day together after you've done the "nasty". That's the time to call your best friend and say, "guess what happened last night?"
[ENote: Don't leave out a single detail!]

George H. Zaleski

My friends' opinions don't mean a thing to me as far as men go. But my parents' opinion could make or break the relationship.
[ENote: You can say that again!]

Ryan P. McNeal

The way a person eats tells you a lot. If she orders two appetizers and two entrees and then just tastes everything, she's exploiting you. This happened to me once. I gave her three dates.
[ENote: Did you ever consider the fact that she's testing you to see just how CHEAP you are?]

I'm not a fan of spending lavishly on a first date. The way I see it, not only are the pasta entrees at Commons a plus, but it's a great way to get rid of a bonus meal. [Ladies, WATCH OUT!]

David C. Uitti

Richard T. Dell'Aquila

I attract women with my watch and expensive shoes. Right now I'm wearing a North Face antique watch and J. Crew rich stich loafers.

Arraaf A. Mochny

What is Arraaf's sure-fire strategy? Just look into his eyes... won't take you long to decipher it....

Anne E. Prenner

To meet men, I've repeatedly crashed AD, Sig, DU, Chi Psi, and weddings at the chapel.

Shivani T. Mehta

I don't talk about my past on a first date because a woman could use the information against me. But after her first impression, I start to reveal my insecurities. That's how I get her to like me. It's like saying, " It's not easy getting things out of me, but you, you did it." [ENote: You don't think a woman knows how to read this OLD tactic? Trust us, she probably has more common sense than you do!]

Ivan D. Kasanof

After my first boyfriend rejected me at 14, I was devastated. I have never been the same since.

Erik C. Porcaro

I am attracted to a woman with a crazy sense of humor and a lot of spontaneity. But I also want a woman who likes my strong jaw, distinguished nose, chiseled chin, and has the gall to grab hold of my hair and run her fingers through my thick, wavy curls. [ENote: Based on evals from the 'Switzerland National Ski Team'...Erik scores a PERFECT 10! Ding Ding!]

Matthew B. Thornton

Burke L. McFerrin

In order to attract that specimen of mass hunkosity, all I do is to imbibe the spirits of BODY LANGUAGE. The only time it's failed me was that one time in the Quad when one of those stray dogs came running to me. [ENote: Guess Mr.Doggy sniffed out your scent, huh? Need we say more?]

I like dating women from my bio classes. It's a taboo. It's great to sneak into the Science Building after midnight and cuddle outside my advisor's office.

VACATION

"Preteen children are at the ideal age-too old to wake up at night...
and too young to borrow the car."
-- Quoted in Woman's World Magazine

(the never ending possibilities of freedom)

Under the magnetism of friendship, the modest become bold;
the shy, confident; the lazy, active;
the impetuous, prudent and peaceful.

-- Thackery

Keehn Co-op

Formed in 1972, the Keehn Coop is located in Keehn Residence Hall. The first floor houses a large and very friendly kitchen. Most importantly, it's a group of men and women who get the opportunity to know each other in a fuller, more whole-some way by actively supporting one another. Since its establishment, the Coop has offered students and the community something of a unique experience.

FOOD? The Coop generally serves vegetarian meals every night, however a meat option (normally chicken) is served every other week depending on demand. Like the rest of the campus, Coop members are expected to participate in the Common Meal Plan for lunch. Breakfast is up to the members. The kitchen is always open for snacks and munchies.

Disasters do occur, bagels do burn, cooks forget the flour, but generally these disasters are rare and at least 4 people are involved withthe preparation of meals. Those who burn rice in September are usually the gormets by January.

WHO LIVES IN KEEHN? The WORLD! There is no ideal Co-oper. According to Damon, Yao, Andresse St. Rose, Scott Stock, Pete Latvis, and "Stephanopolus" Wood, "living in Keehn has to be the most interesting residential experience offered at Hamilton." Varied economic, gender, racial and preferences of sexual orientation are just the things that make Keehn Hamilton's "cooperative success."

The Coop changes in shape, size and taste every semester. So feel free and bring your favorite recipes... and add your flavor to the mix.

Are We Feelin' Groovy?

On trends, politcs and Generation X

For those among us who cringe while looking through our parents' old photo albums, horrified by the colors, collars and hems of the sixties and seventies, the past few years of fashion represent a bad trip in Brady Bunch land.

Alana & Catherine signal the sesmic shift in fashion to the A-Line cut!

From the runways in Paris, New York, Milan and London to Martin's Way in Beinecke Village, perilous platforms, bell-bottoms, A-line dresses, side-burns, GOATEES and hairy CREATURES have taken over over this once-predominantly prepie campus.

Sean, Tim, Jim, Brian and Jason display the big change

Interesting, retro-style appears to have become a statement of sorts for "Generation X". While few parents or old siblings rush to retrieve their polyester pant-suits from the attic, teens and twenty- something's of diverse economic and social backgrounds flaunt baby-tees, hair extensions, sundresses, hiking boots, and Converse sneakers.

Recent fashion phenomena and their affiliation with segments of American youth could simply denote clever marketing strategies or the fruition of a trend cycle. Take Karin's Gap ensemble for instance. The Gap's promotion of simplistic sophistication, or victim of brand-name marketing ?

Taamar, Meghan and Deana show us what constitutes modern dress half-shirts and cut-offs may expose trends of a more symbolic nature than belly rings and tattooed knees. Scholars, critics, and feminists have long examined clothing in light of power, class, identification and gender distinction. Could the more traditional, softer look in women's wear reported by the September '95 edition of Vogue magazine coincide with the Republican party's conservative agenda? Are young people subtly revealing their own ideological inclinations by adopting the costumes of a more liberal era? How about the men on campus who are taking pride in the masculinity of their facial hair?

However,

Who is wearing what?

Does the strange amalgamation of styles betray a generation's sense of bewilderment in the rapidly globalizing world?

The sentence "I want to express my individuality" has become the standard defense of many a goatee. As once-unique looks shimmer in the folds of catalogues as common as J. Crew, North Face, A&F, L.L. Bean, and Carhartts, where will true individualists turn?

It is difficult to fathom the social, political, economic, and creative forces which influence something as trivial as our daily wardrobe. But it is probably safe to guess that clothing styles pinpoint an era as surely as its politics, and that there may be a corellation between the two. Next time you look at President Clinton and Tobin...picture them in fig leaves.

Hugging is practically perfect:

There are no movable parts,
no batteries to wear out,
no periodic checkups,
low energy consumption,
high energy yield,
inflation-proof, non-fattening,
no monthly payments,
no insurance requirements,
non-taxable, non-polluting and of course, fully returnable.

Every year... without failure...
Valentine's Day is marked on the Hill
in a cheerful and thoughtful manner.
Aimed at celebrating love and friendship,
TDX and other campus groups normally set-up tables of smiles and other "lovable options" in Beinecke. In the past, the Class of 1998 has been graced with such romantic treats such as the well-packed Buffers...

Editors' Last Words

WOW! It is hard to believe that it was seven months ago that we petitioned to take on the jobs of being Co-Editors for the 1998 Hamiltonian. Since that time, we have fully experienced the utter joys and sheer woes of the complexity of the job we undertook. From planning and organizing, to motivating and learning, it is a commitment we are glad we accepted.

First, we would like to thank God for giving this yearbook staff the strength and will power to take on this gargantuan project. Second, we the editors would like to extend our heart-felt thanks to the people at C&D who genuinely expressed interest in the progress of this year's publication. Special thanks to Pat Allen for her assistance in retrieving sports team pictures for us; Janie Bassett, Lisa Hulihan, Frank Lorenz, Deana Falbo and Jennifer Potter-Hayes for their unceasing support. We would also like to thank those professors who took the time to provide us with dynamic pictures of students who they obviously spent memorable times with. We would especially like to thank Barb Tewksbury, DeBao Xu and Santiago Tajenia Canal.

To the Athletic Department, we would like to thank Terry Lapinski, Sue Viscomi, Manfred Von Schiller, Ellen Hull, and Betsy Bruce for their efforts to provide us with pictures of the sports teams that add that "continental" flare to the Hill. As for the staff at the Mail Center (headed by our dear Sally), we are forever indebted, and apologize for the madness that only made our lives all the more intriguing. Oh- Pat, yes...you Pat Ingalls, from the bottom our hearts we thank you for your level-headedness and support in assisting us to get our winter deadlines out on time. To Guy and the Team at Danella's Photography, your unceasing professionalism and promptness leaves us in awe. We are grateful.

We would also like to thank Dave Harnett of Jostens for his collaborative efforts in creating this edition. Dave, aside from being our Jostens contact, we have no doubt found a friend in you. Thank you. Bob Carper, you have to be the kindest, professional and most thoughtful yearbook representative out there. We are TRULY grateful for the opportunity that we have had to work along-side you. We only wish that the Class of 1998 could have had a chance to develope the friendship we've developed with you. You are a gem. Last but not least, we the editors would like to thank our amazing staff for all the time, effort, and enthusiasm with which they elbow-greased this PHAT project together. Jessica, Claire, Alden, Katie... we've done it! After all those long hours, stressful nights, and mad deadlines...we've proved that ANYTHING...yes, ANYTHING is possible if one puts his or her mind to it. To next year's yearbook staff, the job ahead will not be easy, but with support, planning, and someone like Bob Carper at your side, you too can get your yearbook out for graduation. Best of luck.

La Toya, Yao, Jessica , Claire, Alden, and Katie
